School parcel tax

Improving teacher salaries is a worthy goal; but the inequities of no pass-through to tenants and flat parcel tax amount on each property, regardless of size/residential/commercial are troubling.

PROP
B
YES*

Retiree healthcare and pension benefits

Addresses the budgetary "time bomb" that the City's current health care benefits system represents. Helps SF maintain budget control as healthcare and pension benefits skyrocket.

C

Pension loss for committing crimes

Prevents City retirees who are convicted of crimes against the City from receiving the City-funded portion of their pension.

PROP

NO

Diversity on City commissions and boards

Promoting diversity is a worthwhile goal, but this measure creates an impossible goal of having each commission reflect a partial list of diversity. It is hard enough to find volunteers for commissions and boards in SF.

E
NO*

SF PUC commissioner appointments

A politically motivated power grab of San Francisco's public utilities by the supervisors at the expense of the mayor.

Affordable housing in Bayview-Hunters Point

Prop F's affordability requirements are so high that they would kill the proposed plan to add needed housing, parks and jobs to the southeast sector of the City. This is Supervisor Chris Daly's "poison pill" for Prop G.

PROP
G
YES*

Mixed-use plan for Bayview-Hunters Point

Prop G will facilitate long needed improvements to Bayview-Hunters Point, including much-needed housing and parks, and will also help to retain the San Francisco 49ers in the City.

City contractor contribution limits

Current law already prohibits City contractors from making campaign contributions to elected officials and candidates who are voting on their projects. This proposition is unneeded and adds legislative confusion.
